Dave Kelly presents...

Orientation Leader Success ProgramSM

New Student Orientation/First Year Experience programs can set up new students for success or failure!

The success or failure of new students on campus lies in the hands of your Orientation Leaders! Dave Kelly will provide intentional training for your Orientation Leaders. Training that allows them to bond through fun and invigorating exercises that will further develop their leadership skills and enable them to provide more effective representation to new students and their families.

New Student/First Year Experience programs are pivotal in defining the direction new students choose when arriving on campus. Too many times orientation leaders are brought into situations they are not prepared for and they end up giving the wrong information or advice to new students. Dave will show your Orientation Leaders how to help their group of new and transfer students succeed from orientation to graduation.

- Develop your Orientation Leaders' facilitation skills
- Offer solutions to handle drama, conflict, and bullying
- Bust the biases students bring to leadership roles, helping them to understand diversity in its various forms
- Provide personal growth through introspection
- Demonstrate how listening and communication skills turn your Orientation Leaders into mentors
- Discover and share the importance personal leadership styles, including their impact on interactions and abilities development

Prepare your Orientation Leaders to do the best job they can... by bringing in America's Student Leadership TrainerSM Dave Kelly to train them! Dave loves working with collegiate leaders and he is committed to making your orientation program a success! Dave will work with you to custom-design the content of your Orientation Leader Success ProgramSM to meet the needs of your campus. Dave's sessions will:

- ✓ Allow Orientation Leaders to bond through fun and invigorating team building exercises
- ✓ Further develop leadership skills
- ✓ Bust the biases that students bring to leadership roles
- ✓ Teach the "Pursuit of Excellence"
- ✓ Demonstrate how listening skills can turn your Orientation Leaders into mentors
- ✓ Provide ways to overcome obstacles
- ✓ Suggest ways to work with difficult people and discuss effective conflict resolution tips.

"I enjoyed his presentation. Everything was well presented and entertaining. I would love to have him back as a speaker. Great job!"

*Ashley Gobert, Orientation Leader, Spelman College (GA),

Dave Kelly presents...

Building Leaders Through Service[®]

Building Leaders Through Service[®] is a program designed to instill in students a life-long commitment to:

- ✓ Community service involvement
- ✓ Servant leadership
- ✓ Service learning, and
- ✓ Personal development

Building Leaders Through Service[®] is a service learning experience designed to further the personal development of students and provide for a practical application of learned skills through community service involvement. This experiential program will aid in student success on your campus and it is also an outstanding way to engage new students on your campus.

The first part of the program is a three-hour leadership training program that will cover a variety of important skills and traits that effective servant leaders possess, such as listening, accepting responsibility, putting others above self, and creating a lifetime commitment to others. Each participant will receive a resource guide that will provide them with material which can be used throughout their academic and professional careers. The seminar is fun and interactive, with an emphasis on applying the information learned to community service activities.

The second part of the program engages students in activities designed to further their leadership development. Applying what they have learned, student success is achieved by participating in a day of service, service plunge, large scale service projects, alternative spring breaks, and/or other community service activities. This service learning program enhances educational experiences through involvement with others and giving back to the community. This part of the experience will help your new students to connect with your school, bond with their classmates, and immediately get involved in a positive way on your campus.
